A New Financial Year - What You Need To Do

As we start a new financial year, it is a good time to check that all your computer hardware and software is operating effectively and efficiently.

It is important that:

- your computer has all the necessary updates (software and hardware)
- all your backups have been done, and
- everything that needs to be done has been done to protect your financial data for the whole financial year.

We have seen many near disasters which could have been prevented with a little bit of planning and if preventative maintenance had been done.

Forerunner can provide a remote system backup service which can be used by you for data recovery. This gives you a peace of mind.

If we can assist you in any of these areas, please contact us as a small amount of time spent on these matters may save you many headaches should the unforeseen occur.

Richard's Corner

Welcome to Forerunner's July newsletter.

We strongly recommend to our clients that they back up their data for safe keeping.

Forerunner can offer you or your business a unique form of backup. The procedure is known as "imaging". Imaging takes a complete image of your hard drive. It captures all of your data, as well as installed programs and settings. This can be of great importance when recovering from a disaster. The ghost image can be loaded back onto your hard drive, making it just like it was prior to the disaster, saving you time and money.

Call us to discuss this unique form of backup.

On another note, our newest employee, Indiana, can now touch type at a rate of 70 words per minute. You can see evidence of her working very hard below :)

Yours Sincerely,
Richard Pederick
